Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bridges (5,823,349) in view of Carfizzi (3,567,068) and Marshall (3,902,651).

Bridges discloses a flexible freight cover made of corrugated fiberboard with a top portion and side portions and an open bottom that fits over the freight on a pallet (Figure 3, column 2, lines 11-21). Bridges discloses the cover can be attached to the pallet with encircling straps (Figures 1 and 2) or screws but does not teach use of an elongate flexible strap engaging the pallet and fastened to first and second sidewalls. Carfizzi discloses the use of an elongate flexible strap (30, Figures 1-3, column 2, lines 15-30 and 830, Figures 13) to secure a container to a base (cleats) engaging the base by passing the strap through the base and attaching the ends of the elongate strap to first and second sides of the container. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated the use of an elongate strap to secure a container (freight cover) to a base (pallet) by passing the strap through the base and securing the ends to opposing faces of the container as disclosed by Carfizzi with the freight cover disclosed by Bridges to provide a simplified method for securing the freight cover to the base (pallet) that requires less additional securement materials.

Bridges does not teach that the freight cover is waterproof. Marshall discloses a waterproof corrugated board for use in constructing a container. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated the use of waterproof corrugated board as disclosed by Marshall in the freight cover disclosed by Bridges to protect the freight from moisture and prevent moisture from degrading the cover.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 13-17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 12-17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
